Editor's Column

If Carmel Unified School District is stamped into participating in a peninsula-wide junior college district, the tax rate per $100 valuation will jump immediately to 47 cents, plus an indeterminate amount in the form of a bond issue or voted special tax for capital improvement.

If Carmel Unified School District remains independent, paying tuition for its students to attend Monterey Junior College, its maximum tax jump will be to 39 cents per $100 valuation. This is assuming the most stringent bill for increasing capital outlay levy to $350 per tuition pupil passes the state legislature. A lesser bill, increasing the levy to $250 is now before the state legislature.

Under the most pessimistic assumption of what will happen in the state legislature, it will still be eight cents cheaper per $100 valuation for Carmel Unified School District to continue on the tuition basis, with every indication that the cost will diminish since, with the building of a four-year state college within driving distance, a substantial number of Carmel students will prefer the state college to Monterey Junior College, and state colleges do not charge school districts tuition for their students.

The eight cents greater tax cost for joining a peninsula junior college district is initial expense. Immediately there will be a bond issue or special tax election to provide funds to build a swimming pool, library, auditorium and additional class rooms.

A breakdown of the initial 47-cent tax: Junior college tax (operational costs) 35 cents; civic center tax (to cover cost of operating plant for adult school, public meetings, etc.) five cents; retirement fund for personnel, two cents; 20-year bond issue to buy share in Monterey College land and improvements ($500,000) five cents. Total 47 cents.

Then there will be the bond issue or special tax election to finance a construction and improvement program which will be an increasing, not a diminishing, burden, since Monterey College buildings consist largely of remodeled World War II barracks.

Should Carmel School District unnecessarily assume this present burden and mortgage the future, when we shall have increasing demands on our tax dollar to provide housing for our elementary and high school students? Should we invest heavily now in a junior college when a four-year state college is to be built nearby, providing better than junior college education opportunities at no cost to our district—especially when in the meanwhile we can continue to send our students to junior college on a tuition basis at considerably less expense than the cost of buying into and maintaining a junior college?

Burgess' First Assignment St. Valentine Day Massacre

BY BOB KALLER

News photography, one of the newest and most exciting of the world's professions, has come of age during the working lifetime of Paul K. Burgess, new Carmel resident. Mr. Burgess admits he found it a wrench in many ways to leave the glamor trail.

Born in Chicago, Mr. Burgess had a cousin who worked for the Chicago Examiner who was somewhat of a hero to him. Together with the fact that his brother, Guy, presented him with a Voigtlander camera one day—Guy was somewhat disgusted with the lack of results he was getting—and Mr. Burgess says he never had a chance. The next thing Paul knew he was hanging around the office of the Chicago Herald-Examiner (the accepted way of breaking into the newspaper business in those days) in the hopes of picking up odd assignments.

He picked one up all right. His first assignment turned out to be the St. Valentine's Day Massacre, the famed case in which a whole group of Capone gangland rivals were machine-gunned in an old abandoned warehouse. To the young novice, there was no time to be revolted at the gore. This was Life with a capital "L."

The era was a lively one in Chicago. Ben Hecht, Charlie MacArthur, Gene Fowler and others were remaking Chicago journalism with a devil-may-care attitude and a determination that nothing would stand in the way of a story. There were several wild circulation wars between competing papers and news photography was liberating itself from the bonds of the tripod. Few people today realize how recently the advent of mobile photography has been, giving the photographer the chance to follow action as it occurs instead of being chained to a spot by his equipment.

Mr. Burgess also points out that during the twenties a photograph-

Mackenzie To Ask Zone Defense In Liquor Battle

John F. Mackenzie, acting as an individual citizen will petition the city council, when it meets at 7:45 o'clock Wednesday, May 1, to establish by emergency interim ordinance, a transition zone between residence and business district. Also, he will suggest that that the city hire "expert legal counsel specially qualified in administrative law."

He would have the council "protect homes by zoning a strip adjacent to all residences where certain types of business, such as stores, shops and other commercial uses involving early and late opening and closing hours, heavy traffic congestion, noise and confusion would not be permitted."

Such a transition zone, he believes, would give protection to the residential district if the appeals board upholds the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, which found invalid Carmel's "liquor store and bar" ordinance; this ordinance restricts to the central business area establishments in which the sale of alcoholic beverages is not subordinate to other businesses. It was tested when The Pink Elephant Liquor Store applied for a transfer to a location across the street from the residence zone; and the Hearstone restaurant and bar sought to transfer to a location across the street from the city park and across the park from the Presbyterian Church. When the ABC board approved the transfer in both cases, the city appealed the decision on the liquor store transfer. The hearing is set for April 24 in San Francisco.

Petitions signed by over 1600 citizens, asking a review of the ABC's decision in favor of the Hearstone, were sent in to the appeals board last week.

Mr. Mackenzie went to Pasadena to get information from the city officials and attorneys on Pasadena's battle with the ABC board which was lost in court several weeks ago. He will confer with Carmel City Attorney John Morse over the week end on how the Pasadena Buffer Zoning Ordinance can be modified to fit Carmel needs and still accomplish the same objective as Pasadena.

Senator Farr To Try To Stop Freeway At Top Of Hill

Senator Fred Farr told the Pine Cone Sunday that he will go to work immediately in Sacramento for the abandonment of the Carmel-Monterey Freeway: "Stop it at the top of the Monterey hill," he said.

There has been nothing but tears over the freeway. Carmel, united for one of the few times in its history, fought to get it shunted from Highway No. 1 into Hatton Canyon. Now Hatton Canyon dwellers are upset because the highway department will cut down the trees, and all lower Carmel Valley is upset about the Rio Road crossing which will not be beautiful, no matter what is done. Abandonment would be a glorious solution.

J. C. District Faces Board On Tuesday

Carmel Unified School District Board, meeting 7:00 o'clock Tuesday night at the High School, will review the resolution asking the state department of education to set up a peninsula-wide junior college district which was deferred at the special meeting last Thursday, because all board members were not present.

In the meanwhile, Pacific Grove Unified School District and Monterey High School District have passed resolutions asking the department of education to set up such a district.

If Carmel board passes the resolution Tuesday, the peninsula junior college is an accomplished thing. The state board of education will make a token "survey of need" and instruct the county superintendent of schools to call an election. The proposal passes by a simple majority of the entire peninsula vote, Monterey, which has been supporting the Monterey (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Carmel Unincorp Starts New Fire District; Plans Two Elections, Flock Of Public Hearings Before August 1

The commissioners of the Carmel Unincorporated Fire Protection District presented two petitions at a meeting of Carmel Unincorporated at the High School Cafetorium last night.

The first petition asks the county board of supervisors to call an election to dissolve the present Carmel Unincorporated Fire Protection District.

Babs Richardson To Give Benefit At Circle Theatre

Up to the minute in other respects, the Golden Bough Theatre is handicapped with a haywire light switchboard which dates back to 1924 and the original Golden Bough. It has miraculously survived two disastrous theatre fires, but its days are numbered.

To finance a new lightboard (the estimate runs over $1200) a Golden Bough Lightboard Fund has been started by the workers in, and the friends of this typically Carmel Little Theatre. To "sweeten the kitty," Babs Richardson, one of the stars of the Golden Bough Players (and a popular Carmel businesswoman who with her husband Dick runs The Casual Shop) is putting on two benefit performances on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 23 and 24, on the arena stage, all proceeds to be

CARMEL TRACKSTERS CLIP HOLLISTER AND GILROY

Coach Fred Rainer's Carmel High varsity track squad packed too much depth for the visiting squads from Hollister and Gilroy last Saturday at the Padre oval and the red and gray thinclads ran off with the meet in convincing fashion. Scores of the varsity meet showed Carmel with 76 points, Hollister with 58, and Gilroy with 23. Outstanding efforts by Clyde Klaumann (first places in the shot-put and 220) and Hampton Stewart (1st in the 440 and 2nd in the high-jump and broad-jump) highlighted the Carmel win over the favored squads from Hollister and Gilroy. The Haybalers won the lightweight meet as they piled up 67 points for 48 in the Gilroy camp and 23 for the Little Padres.

Carmel's varsity squad picked up seven of the 13 first places in the varsity meet to dominate the good performers from Hollister and Gilroy. Don Smith's flashing 14.8 performance in the low-hurdles topped all the Padre track artists and came as a surprise to the hurdle-wealthy Hollister team which expected to sweep the timber-topping events.

Bert Macahilig, Carmel sprinter, won a first place in the century and came with a burst of speed in the stretch to garner a second place in the furlong event. Pete Hansen and Bill Kearney made the Hollister and Gilroy milers go the limit before dropping close decisions in the four-lap event. Both Hansen and Kearney ran the best races of their short careers and showed promise of developing into solid distance runners before the season is finished. Hampton Stewart's 55.4 quarter-mile performance disappointed the lanky Padre middle-distance runner but it was good enough for a first place in the three-way meet. The smooth-running Pebble Beach lad is capable of running under 52-seconds but is held back by the lack of fast competition.

Carmel's fast-rising pole vault duo, Phil White and Phil Durbrow, both cleared 10-6 to pick up the first two places in the pogo-stick event. Both of these lads have the physical qualifications to reach 12 feet before the season is over and they are a definite threat to finish one-two in the CCAL B-division meet. Art Wilkerson, Carmel's hard-trying distance-runner, put up a good fight in the half-mile but was nipped by Hollister's Ramon Silvera who zipped through the 880 in 2:10.

Carmel's outmanned lightweight squad found the going rough against the favored Hollister Hayseeds, being held to one first place

(Frank Wallace's win in the 660) and a pair of seconds by Tom Collins in the hurdles. Hollister's lightweight squad has dominated all B-league opposition so far this season and is favored to cop the Little-Seven Meet late this month. The varsity Little-Seven title is up for grabs between Carmel and King City with the blue and white Mustangs slightly favored to grab the big trophy. King City beat the Padres in an early-season meet and have the first-place performers necessary to keep in front of all opponents in a seven-way meet. Carmel is the only squad which has a chance to upset the Mustangs and Coach Fred Rainer feels that the Village thinclads can get the job done if they give out with a 200% performance.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS FINALS AT PEBBLE BEACH

The finals of the Pebble Beach Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament will be played at the Pebble Beach Tennis Courts today at 2:00 o'clock.

Alex Olmedo, USC (National Intercollegiate Champion), will play John Cranston, UCLA, in Singles.

Doubles brings together Alex Olmedo and Ted Atkinson of USC, playing Davis Cup members Mike Green and Mike Franks, UCLA. Franks and Green are Pacific Coast Doubles Champions.

The Santa Catalina School Scholarship Fund will benefit from proceeds from the tournament, for which Robert Ford is foundation chairman. John C. Gardiner is tournament director and Frank T. Heffelfinger of Minneapolis is honorary tournament chairman.

CIRCLING THE BASES

Coach Jim Tidwell of the Monterey Peninsula College nine is singing the praises of Dick Jennings, former Carmel High pitcher, who threw a no-hit no-run game against the good Fresno State junior-varsity last Saturday afternoon. The Carmel Valley lad completely silenced the big bats of the visiting collegians as he struck out four and allowed only two walks over the seven-inning route. Jennings was an all-league selection last season when playing for the Padres.

Carmel's only professional baseball player, lefty Henry Overin, who has been trying out with the Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League, has been optioned to Colorado Spring of the Western League. The class (A) Western League has been a springboard for plenty of major league players so the Carmel lefty isn't disappointed in the transfer.

Carmel High's inexperienced baseball team picked up some valuable playing time Monday and Tuesday during the Monterey Easter Tournament. The Padres were given a pitching lesson by Ken Negro of the Santa Cruz Cardinals in the first game as the husky righthander threw a no-hitter at the village lads. In registering his no-hitter, Negro struck out ten Carmel swingers and doled out four walks. Carmel's entire mound staff, Cim Conway, Parker Pollock, Tim O'Shea and Phil O'Shea were thrown into the dike to stop the leaks but the Cardinals still rolled for six runs. The hard-trying Padres pulled the big surprise of the tournament in the second game as they upset the big Watsonville Wildcats, 6 to 5, behind Tim O'Shea's fine pitching performance. Tim relieved for Cim Conway in the first inning with a four-run deficit and blanked the Wildcats until the final inning when he was touched for a four-master by the Wildcat catcher. Tim also hit a double with the bases full to provide the big scoring punch for the Padres. In the consolation finals, Pacific Grove clipped the Padres,

4 to 0, as Jerry Millette threw a three-hitter for the Breakers. Phil O'Shea, a junior-varsity find, was a standout for the Carmel squad, pitching five scoreless innings after relieving Parker Pollock in the second frame.

One of Northern California's finest prep baseball teams will show at Carmel High's Bardarson Field next Monday afternoon when the Bellarmine Bells from San Jose cross bats with the Padre nine. Coached by Bob Fatjo, a New York Yankee bird dog, the Bells have sent more players to the major leagues than any other high school in California. The Padres (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Gregory Millar To Sing Compositions Of Lindsay-Oliver

The Monterey Peninsula public will have an opportunity to hear the tenor voice of Gregory Millar, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra and the San Francisco Little Symphony on April 30 when he will sing several of Mary Lindsay-Oliver's songs in a recital of her compositions at the Nix Studio Theatre. Many are aware of Millar's versatility as a musical artist for last year he sang Pinkerton in the Pacific Opera Company's San Francisco production of Madam Butterfly, and during the summer sang with the City Opera Company in New York. Members of La Cause Francaise heard him with his soprano sister, Catherine, at the Craft Studios and were thrilled with his singing. He will be accompanied at the piano by his wife, Roslyn Franz.

Helen Shutes, violinist, who plays viola in the Symphony, will also be on the program, as well as a cellist and clarinetist to be named later, for ensemble numbers.

Lindsay-Oliver, composer-pianist, well known for her symphony program notes here and elsewhere, her music critiques in the Pine Cone and Musical Leader, her voice and piano teaching and portrait-painting is giving the first public recital in Carmel although she played recitals on the Coast when here for two years about 20 years ago—including Los Angeles, San Francisco, Berkeley and Monterey, besides producing and conducting a notable Mikado on the W. W. Wheeler patio in Pebble Beach. As pianist and conductor of choruses, orchestra and light opera and oratorio, Lindsay-Oliver has been heard in Boston, New York, Chicago and other cities. Also in England, Scotland and the Channel Isles. Radio performances and talks on musical subjects have been given by her on NBC in New York and other stations. Michel MacKay will manage this concert. The program and further information will be published later.

Lions Furbish Up Parking Lot For Summer Business

With the summer months coming on the Carmel Lions Club has been cleaning and relining their public parking lot at the corner of Junipero and Ocean Avenue for the convenience of the people who want to rent parking stalls to get their cars off the street so as to make more parking room for the summer visitors. The parking committee is headed by Ken Brown and he states their are a few monthly rental stalls still available at $5.00 and $3.00 per month.

At the Club meeting last Tuesday evening held at the Cypress West dining room, the new officers for the coming year were elected, the nominating committee recommended: for President, Frederick Stanley; First Vice President, Cliff Cook; Second Vice President, Bill Wakefield; Secretary, George Dear; Treasurer, Stanley Ewig; Lion Tail Twister, Dale Leidig; and for Lion Tamer, Paul Mercurio. Two new Directors of the Board were also elected, Ernest Bixler and Joe Oenning.

PTA MEETS TUESDAY

Carmel High School PTA unit will meet for the last time this year on Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the new Music Room. Mr. John Farr, music instructor, will present a short program by the Boys' Choir, and show facilities of the Music Room to the parents. The new Science Room, as well as the new Spanish and English classrooms also will be open for inspection.

Officers for next year, presented by the nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Robert Osborne, Mrs. Allen Champe and Mark Raggett, will be elected and installed during the evening. Coffee, cookies and punch will be served. Outgoing co-presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Leidig, urge all high school parents to come to the meeting, see the new rooms being used by their children, and meet other parents and teachers informally. Students wishing to hear the program also are invited by Mrs. Leidig to be present on Tuesday night and to stay for refreshments prepared by Mrs. Walter Stuefoten.

LIESEL WURZMANN EXHIBIT

Carmel Crafts Guild exhibitor this month at the Harrison Memorial Library is Liesel Wurzmann. She is showing eight pieces of sculpture in stone, driftwood, redwood and ceramic cast with bronze finish. The work ranges from non-objective to realistic in interpretation.

Miss Wurzmann came from Germany to live in Carmel in 1934. In 1949 she began sculpture as a hobby. She has studied in Carmel with Clarence Bates and in Mexico at the Allende Institute at San Miguel. She is a member of the Carmel Art Association.

Leutinger Resigns, Rec Board Approves $16,240.00 Budget

The Carmel Recreation District Board approved a $16,240 year-around recreation program budget at its meeting Wednesday afternoon. William Wakefield, recreation director, will present it to the school board members for approval at their meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the high school.

An increase of $1,285 over the 1956 budget of $14,955 will be covered by increase in assessed valuation of property in the school district, Wakefield said. The recreation program is supported by a five-cent tax.

Most of the additional funds will be devoted to the summer activities at the high school swimming pool. There will be five instructors this summer instead of four, additional hours of instruction, and a small craft safety program using the Red Cross' new boat.

There will be three playground supervisors at River School instead of two, a basketball league at night and possibly a new program for girls 12 to 14 years old at Sunset. A questionnaire is to be sent out to discover what would interest them. All the other summer recreation activities of last year will be provided this summer also.

Recreation Commission Member at Large George Leutinger offered his resignation by letter. He does not have time to continue on the board, he said. The remaining commissioners, City Councilman James Buffington, School Board Member Glenn Leidig, Bud Foster and Mrs. Roderick Wilson, who appoint the member at large, deferred action until next month's meeting.

Discussion of the Carmel Youth Center's budget, initiated by Mr. Wakefield, was postponed until next meeting also, on the recommendation of Mr. Buffington, since there was no Youth Center representative present at the meeting. A part of the Youth Center's operational costs—$3500—is paid out of recreation district funds and provided for in the recreation program budget. Normally, the Youth Center budget is presented in August.

Mr. Wakefield reported on a bill before the state legislature to permit Unified School Districts such as Carmel's to raise the five-cent tax limit for recreation to ten cents, and the board decided to send a letter to Senator Fred Farr in support of the bill.

Planners Consider Crack Down On High Wall Bldgs.

Multi-story vertical walls at the rear of buildings in the C-1 district occupied the Carmel Planning Commission in study session yesterday afternoon. The problem was pinpointed by consideration of plans for an addition to Hofsas House, motel fronting two stories high on San Carlos Street, but presenting a four-story rear facade facing Dolores Street between Third and Fourth Streets.

Under the existing ordinance, a building in the business district two stories high facing the street, and under 35 feet average height, may be, in the rear, several stories high, especially when the site slopes down from front to back as in the case of the proposed Hofsas House addition. The four-story-in-the-rear addition is within building code specifications but worries the Planning Commission as multi-story vertical rear walls in C-1 district, such as the fire wall of the new building opposite the post office, present an unattractive appearance.

The Planning Commission will decide at their regular meeting next Wednesday afternoon whether or not to allow the proposed addition to Hofsas House.

Commissioner Florence Josselyn stated, "We must think about the entire city."

She felt that granting building permits for multi-story rear construction, although permissible within the building code, adversely affected the appearance of the whole city.

Commissioners Lee Gottfried and Fred Keeble would like a revision of the building code to prohibit such construction.

Building Inspector Floyd Adams pointed out that some five or six years ago Carmel's building ordinance was changed by the City Council to permit such construction, at the request of the Planning Commission.

Demands for off-street parking and open landscaped areas, said Adams, made motel construction economically unfeasible on many sites, prohibiting construction of sufficient units to make the motel profitable. Consideration of this factor had led to the building ordinance change, stated Adams. The effect is now being seen in recent construction in the town, he added.

Studying plans for added units and improvements of Beverly Terrace Lodge, the Planning Commission asked for an additional setback of one foot on street frontages. Beverly Terrace extends from San Carlos to Dolores Street at Fourth. They also thought that the fire wall demanded under the code for added construction should not extend above the roof line of the addition, thus preventing a situation such as now exists in the parapet wall opposite the post office.

Plans for an addition to Horizon Inn, Junipero and Third Streets, were also presented to the Commission to study. Again they asked for two foot planting setbacks on street frontages. They also suggested the two-story front be broken up by more windows, preventing a blank wall appearance on the street.

The Planning Commission also studied an addition to Carmel Builders Supply office building on Junipero Street. J. O. Handley, owner of the business, wishes to enclose an open porch, bringing the building to the property line.

"We have to get a new ordinance," said Commissioner Fred Keeble. He was referring to the fact that at present in the C-2 zone, such up-to-the-property-line construction is permissible. Under the proposed interim ordinance amendment for C-2 district, setbacks are demanded.

An addition to the Tuck Box on Dolores Street and work to preserve the front of the building met with favorable Commission consideration.

Then the Planning Commission and the Building Inspector relaxed happily when they studied plans for an outdoor dining area in an inner court at Sade's Restaurant on Ocean Avenue. Just what Carmel needs, likes, and hasn't got enough of was their delighted united thought.

"And it removes an unsightly fire hazard," said Building Inspector Adams adding to the general joy.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian
Honestly now, we have just about had it! Not long ago we replaced our Encyclopedia Americana with a new edition, and we were all foolishly proud of the new set. We use it daily, almost hourly. Encyclopedias are expensive, and even after the discount allowed us as an educational institution the set cost well over two hundred dollars. Money like that isn't available every day in the week, you know. What happened next? Someone went off with volume 23 before the set had been on the shelves much over two weeks. The Children's Librarian tells us that the juvenile encyclopedias slip away and return like the tent folding arabs. She is never sure how complete the sets will be when she checks them. And of course that seems especially silly because the volumes from older sets are allowed to circulate. Why should anyone steal something which could be legitimately borrowed in an earlier edition? It just doesn't make sense.

The other day a friend who owns a book shop told us that frequently when she tells a customer the price of a book, he says he won't pay that much for a book because he can steal a copy from the library for nothing. Shall we talk about something else? The only thing we can get from this conversation is ulcers.

New books this week make a varied list. Two of them are on archaeological excavations in different parts of the world. Geoffrey Bibby says in his book, The Testimony of the Spade, "Every archaeologist knows in his heart why he digs. He digs in pity and humility, that the dead may live again, that what is past may not be forever lost, that something may be salvaged from the wreck of ages." By means of his excavations in Europe he has uncovered materials attesting to life in Northern Europe from 15,000 BC to the time of the Vikings. Another archaeologist, Carleton Coon, has been digging in prehistoric caves scattered from Tangier to Afghanistan. His book is called The Seven Caves, and it is illustrated with most interesting photographs.

A book which is important for several reasons is Arctic Frontiers by John Caswell. This is an account of early expeditions to the arctic by American explorers, and there is included here high praise for the work of Ernest Leffingwell of Carmel. Mr. Leffingwell made several exploratory trips to the far north, and is credited with having made "the first accurate chart of the North Arctic coast of Alaska." Incidentally, this library is most fortunate in having a collection of books on early arctic explorations which was a gift of Mr. Leffingwell, and which will be exhibited as a collection in the near future. More about that exhibition later on this spring.

Lobsang Rampa was a Tibetan lama. He was raised in a lamasery, having been taken there at the age of seven years. The following year his forehead was pierced to permit him to exercise the third eye, and he was further trained for high office with a knowledge of clairvoyance and travel in astral planes. In this book he discusses many of the mysteries of the Tibetan faith as well as his own experiences. His book is called The Third Eye.

Gay Monarch, the Life and Pleasures of Edward VII, is the title of a smooth running biography by Virginia Cowles. It follows Edward from his birth to the plaudits which came after his death, but more than this, it paints a clear picture of an era known as the Edwardian.

There are six new novels this week, equally divided between mysteries and straight fiction. Probably the most outstanding among them is I, Madame Tussaud, by Sylvia Martin. This story is based upon the life of the famous Madame Tussaud of the London wax works. It is well done

Burgess' 1st Assignment St. Valentine Massacre

er fought his equipment as much as his subjects and deadlines — that the relatively trouble-free, dependable cameras of today were a much later development, and that the best picture often simply never came out.

By 1929 Mr. Burgess was a regular member of the Herald-Examiner staff and there he remained for the next 17 years—with time out for the war. During the early thirties he became interested in flying, soon had a license, and was one of the country's first flying photographers. In 1933, he covered the arrival of General Balbo of Italy at the World's Fair from the air.

Mr. Burgess was also responsible for the widely-used picture of outlaw John Dillinger with his arm around the Sheriff of Crown Point, Indiana, the night before his escape from jail. Paul Burgess also was present for the final capture of the notorious killer. World Series, Hollywood starlets and top politicians—he got to know them all during the next crowded decade.

The hardest assignment of his working lifetime, he says, was the first Democratic convention in Chicago to nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932. For the sheer work, endurance and sweat demanded, this took the most out of any photographic working crew Mr. Burgess had ever seen.

By 1942 the war had come on, and Mr. Burgess found himself a Navy lieutenant teaching flying. Later he flew Navy Transport to Honolulu, and then was assigned to photography, to work on the Navy's then-secret Sunny-Strip camera. This was a stereo camera which permitted examiners to judge from its film strips the actual height of trees and objects, depth of water, et cetera for the benefit of invading military forces.

By 1946, with the end of the war, Mr. Burgess was back at work in Chicago, but he found that long absence had dulled both the climate and the scene for him. So in that year he transferred to the San Francisco Examiner, another Hearst paper, where he stayed for the next eight years.

Subsequently, he went down to head the photographic section of the Los Angeles Examiner and to reorganize their methods, to give them one of the top photographic organizations on the West Coast. In 1955, tiring of the administrative grind, Mr. Burgess took a leave of absence and went to Europe to cover the Big Four Conference at Geneva for International News Service. Here he saw Eisenhower, Bulganin, Eden, and Faure at close range, becoming acquainted with their personalities and characteristics at first hand, as he had with many other of the world's leaders. Most memorable event of the conference to Mr. Burgess, was his meeting Carmelite Roberta Cochrane, whom he had known some years previously. They decided to marry right after the conference. Burgess says with a grin that they had intended to invite the Big Four to the wedding but lost their nerve. Recently the couple returned to Carmel to stay permanently.

Paul says that the Europeans, on the whole, are doing a better job of news photography coverage because of their extensive use of the highly facile 35 mm. camera, an instrument whose potentialities as a news camera we are just beginning to exploit here.

The Russian photographers at the Big Four Conference, many of whom spoke excellent English, used primarily German and American photographic equipment and Russian film. He was impressed with the remarkable coverage work done by some of the so-called photographic "pools"—associations of top talented photographers such as "Magnum" and others.

Of two of the problems that have beset his profession he speaks quite seriously. One has been the accusation that news photographers have tended to be rude, even ruthless. Burgess points out that time deadlines weigh even more heavily on a photographer than a reporter. The latter can phone a story in while the former must physically deliver the products of his labor and the race for time sometimes cuts short the amenities.

The other and more serious problem has been the accusation that scandal magazines, unscrupulous lawyers and others have gotten hold of unused pictures from news photographers with the idea of blackmail.

To guard against this eventuality Burgess says, every top newspaper now demands a record of all film used by photographers. All negatives and unused film must be turned back and a file record is kept. Also the large organizations will permit no extra prints to be made, even for personal friends.

With the advance in mechanical equipment and the gradual emergence of college training courses in news photography, Mr. Paul Burgess says he can scarcely recognize the frenetic field which kept him happy for so long. And he thinks its possibilities for ambitious youngsters are limitless.

Progress Inevitable Says Lecturer On Christian Science

Progress is the inevitable result of the application of man's natural ability to reflect divine power, Theodore Wallach of Chicago, Illinois told an audience here Saturday evening, April 13, 1957.

The "elimination of limitations" is completely practical, Mr. Wallach declared. Freedom from sickness, sin, and limitation can be experienced progressively, he said, as one gains a better understanding of the true nature of God and man.

Currently on extended tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he spoke under the auspices of First Church of Christ Scientist, Carmel, in the church edifice, Monte Verde near Sixth. He was introduced by Mr. John Gates, First Reader of the church.

Speaking on "Christian Science: The Open Door to Progress," Mr. Wallach pointed out that progress is one of the basic longings of mankind. Few would deny, he said, that "we are all interested in bettering ourselves—in improving our business and home conditions, in increasing our incomes, and in broadening our social, cultural, educational and spiritual horizons."

"The discovery of Christian Science by Mary Baker Eddy has given great impetus to the demonstration of man's marvelous capacities for good, his tremendous possibilities for achievement, and his ability to reflect divine power," he declared.

Christ Jesus' powerfully practical concept of prayer needs wider acceptance today, Mr. Wallach stated.

"From his first humble turning of water into wine, on through those great instances of raising himself and others from the dead, and finally in his own crowning, unparalleled ascension, the Master illustrated the progressively unfolding dominion bestowed by spiritual understanding of man's unity with God," he declared.

Emphasizing the need for daily proof of Christian power, Mr. Wallach quoted the following from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 233): "This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfill."

Selfishness and personal domination were described as roadblocks on the highway of achievement by the lecturer.

"These are some of the things from which we need to be freed, he said, 'for it is much like trying to run an automobile with the brakes on to expect to make much progress while indulging these retarding characteristics."

"Stubborn resentment, ill temper, unwarranted criticism, unprincipled emotionalism mislead us and blind us to the nature and desirability of that which brings lasting satisfaction," he added.

WATER

The Most Important Thing in Life

The value of water cannot be determined.

The price of water depends upon the cost of its production.

This cost is divided into four primary categories:

The cost of operating and maintaining the plant.

The cost of replacing worn out facilities (depreciation).

The taxes paid to city, county, state, and the U.S. Government.

The cost of invested capital (stock dividends and bond interest).

When these costs are fully met a water supply system will operate successfully . . . and only then.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

ANTI-POLLUTION VICTORY

The National Wildlife Federation, representing some three million sportsmen and conservationists, has its headquarters in Washington, D.C. They have recently sent out a flash Conservation Report, dated April 5, announcing a dramatic victory in the House of Representatives on the anti-pollution front. It is said to be the first major test of conservation strength in the House this session and should be cause for encouragement on the part of conservation workers everywhere.

The question of pollution of our streams by untreated sewage and industrial waste is one of water conservation, and water in recent years has been stated repeatedly by authorities and by the President himself to be our most critical problem. Last year Congress passed the Blatnik Act which went a long way toward solving the pollution problem. One of its features was a grant to cities to stimulate the building of sewage-treatment plants. Since the untreated sewage flows from the city of its origin down stream past other cities in other states, it becomes an interstate or federal problem.

In this session of Congress an effort was made to scuttle the Blatnik Act by cutting appropriations for putting it into effect. Congressman O. C. Fisher of Texas had offered an amendment that would knock out the whole $50 million budgeted for the second year of the Public Health Service program providing these municipal sewage-disposal grants. On April 3 this amendment was passed by a tellers' count of 162 to 140. On April 4 by a roll-call vote, in which legislators friendly to conservation are put on public record, this result was reversed by a vote of 231-185.

Many people wonder why there should be opposition to the elimination of sewage pollution. In this case the Conservation Report states that the pressure was spearheaded from the outside by publicists and lobbyists of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers and certain trade associations representing the polluting industries. They used the arguments of "economy" but the real reason was said to be that if municipal sewage is cleaned up, then it will be easy to point the finger at certain offending industries, who will be compelled to spend large sums of money correcting the situation. At present the smell of industrial wastes can't be separated from the untreated city sewage.

I have always liked to think of industrial leaders as having a good sense of civic responsibility. In many cases that is certainly true. The explanation of their action in trying to avoid responsibility for cleaning up the stream pollution situation is a difficult one. They have excuses a-plenty, which were voiced on the floor of the House by Congressman Leslie A. Arends of Illinois and other apologists, but the fact remains that many of them are still dumping foul-smelling and destructive wastes into our rivers without making any effort to remedy the situation.

Conservationists should look to these groups for help instead of, as so frequently happens, expecting opposition from them. The issue is that of unselfish devotion to the public good versus that of private gain.

Wildflower Fair In Carmel Valley Sat.

A Wildflower Fair will be held on Saturday in Carmel Valley at the Community Center building, opening at 10:00 o'clock in the morning and lasting until 6:00 o'clock in the evening. Signs will be placed along the Valley road to guide those attending the annual affair.

Over 1,000 varieties and kinds of flowering plants will be displayed. Carmel Valley has one sixth of the total varieties of California flora in its immediate vicinity.

A "Mystery Plant" will be shown and the first person correctly identifying this plant will receive a prize of $100.

Booths selling homemade cakes, cookies, breads, pies, candies, honey, tamales, enchiladas will be open at the Center. Seeds and fresh eggs will also be for sale. All purchases are to be wrapped in newspaper and booth attendants will wear early California or pioneer costumes.

The Carmelo 4-H Club of Carmel Valley receives half of the profits from the Wildflower Show to further their youth activities.

Organizations taking part in the Wildflower Fair other than the 4-H Club are Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce, Carmel Valley Women's Club, Carmel Valley Chapel Guild and Carmel Valley Arts, Inc.

WHAT DOES A RABBIT WEARING A SPRING BONNET HAVE TO DO WITH EASTER?

More than is apparent at first glance . . . Our furry friend wearing a flower-bedecked hat combines two symbols of Easter, the gem of the milliner's art sought by every woman, and in his own long-eared person, the animal figure beloved by children of all ages who have still to outgrow the fun of an Easter egg hunt, or a chocolate-filled basket concealed in some easy-to-find spot.

Easter has a more sacred significance, of course—its religious meaning giving a promise of hope and rebirth, as evidenced by Nature putting on her most glorious face for the new season, and the solemn church rituals observed throughout the world this week.

Whatever Easter's significance for you, Carmel offers it abundantly. Churches of all faiths provide rich Holy Week spiritual rewards. In this, one of the loveliest areas on earth, you can enjoy Spring's own treasure of flowers, meadow, hillside, sea and sky, in Easter Week's most glorious aspects. And in Carmel itself you will find a galaxy of Easter treasure—everything from fashions for the Easter parade to giant chocolate eggs with your name inscribed.

The Time Has Come.

by Kippy Stuart

A tree is a valuable possession and should be selected with great care. The abundance of choice is so great that the new home owner is apt to be stumped by the vastness of the selection. A bit of advice from an expert is greatly needed, and right at hand, for the amateur, is a service without charge for this very purpose. Here is where our taxes pay dividends. The University of California operates one of the finest agricultural departments in the country and a request for information on any subject pertaining to garden lore will bring almost immediate reply.

So many newcomers from the east try to follow their own opinions on tree planting, duplicating their gardens far away, only to come a cropper. Another sad custom is to look about the neighborhood and copy trees already in existence. Now why be a copy-cat? Why not go into the subject with a fresh mind and an eagerness to achieve something different?

First, one must analyze location, wind frequency, soil condition and sun hours. A tree that demands shade will soon fade away if placed in direct sun; a tree that is acid inclined will not thrive in alkaline soil. If a Japanese maple is planted in direct path of prevailing winds, the tree will be shattered in no time and present a horde of unsightly brown leaves, giving the appearance of drying out. All the water in the hose will not revive a wind-burned tree.

On the other hand, there are trees that are impervious to wind and thrive in gales and even storms. For a windy spot, select a tree with thick foliage, not thick in branches or form, rather leaf-thickness and leaf toughness. We are blessed with many such shrubs and trees that belong right here, yet have been neglected through ignorance of their habits.

If you want a low growing shrub or tree, plant one that is recommended for your needs. All varieties of acacia suffer greatly from broken branches and shattered foliage. One bad storm can destroy the entire thing. On the windy plateau, try any one of the pittosporums, especially Pittosporum crassifolium. This is a lovely green-grey shrub or tree that even resists ocean spindrift and will live merrily exposed to inclement weather. And another thing, you do not have to worry about tree or shrub growing out of all proportions for its need. If you want a low tree or shrub, do what is called "feathering." Nip out the center tip highest on the branch. Use fingers for this, not clippers. Do it when the plant is young and tender. This will insure thick growth along the bole of the tree and prevent its shooting skyward.

Another recommendation for this wind-swept area is used solely as a wind-break. Myoporum is a plant that goes to work with a will and in a short time, will mass itself against storm of major proportions. The leaves are thick and shiny with a lustrous glossy appearance, making an excellent background for patio or hill side. I might go on and on, with a tree for here and a tree for there, yet the new home owner would do well to consult an expert before venturing his own selections.

Easter Week in Carmel

Carmel is being host to hundreds of Northern California high school students this week, on school vacation. They throng the beaches, wander along the streets gay with flowering genista and other spring blooms. At night their picnic fires dot the beaches as the Carmel police department keeps a watchful eye to see no youthful pranks get out of hand.

Carmel students are mingling with the visitors in the same pursuits. On Sunday the visitors will go home, Carmel youth will don new Easter outfits for church and family parties and to watch even younger Carmelites hunt Easter eggs.

On Monday all will be quiet again as the young people go back to classes for the last quarter of the school year, tanned, and with happy memories of Easter Week in Carmel. Even the rain!

May Fellowship Day

May Fellowship Day will be observed by the United Church Women of the Monterey Peninsula at the Church of the Wayfarer on May 3, beginning at 11:30 in the morning. The occasion is observed by Protestant church women all over the United States, with programs devoted to methods of serving underprivileged groups that seem to have no place in the community, such as migrant workers, especially the neglected children.

The women's organization, working with the Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches, sponsors religious and recreational workers to direct activities for the children in summer migrant camps in agricultural areas in this and other states. The local group is furnishing a scholarship to meet the expenses of such a worker this summer, and is also asking for donations of materials needed for the work. These are crayons, paper, tools for crafts, balls and bat, toiletries (tooth brushes, etc.), sewing kits, or money to purchase such things.

This is the one meeting of the year where the hostess church serves a meal, for which reservation must be made. Further details will be given next week. All women interested in this social work are invited to attend.

Bud Marble Visits Briefly

Bud Marble stopped in Carmel briefly on Monday to see his father, Eugene Marble, on his way home to Hermosa Beach, after inspecting an oil lease in San Gregorio canyon behind Menlo Park. Bud reports that his sister Mary and her husband, David Abercrombie, are due to arrive here in September for a year's stay. Dr. Abercrombie is professor of English at Edinburgh University.

Back From Palm Springs

Jules Selcer is back in Carmel this week after three months spent in Palm Springs. He says he had a fine time in the desert but is glad to be back in Carmel to watch sunsets and surf from his beachside cottage, and greet old friends when he picks up his mail at the post office.

Eben Speaker at S.F. Luncheon

Eben Whittlesey was speaker at the luncheon opening the San Francisco Bay area Guide Dogs for the Blind campaign on Monday in the Saint Francis Hotel. It was attended by 250 persons. He represented the graduates of the San Rafael Guide Dog Training School and shared the speakers' table with Ida Lupino and her husband, Howard Duff.

Rusters Rest from Tax Time

John Ruster mailed his last tax returns on Monday night and on Tuesday took Mrs. Ruster, Peter, Heidi, Michael and Mrs. Ruster's son, Gary Bradburn, camping in Bixby Canyon until Thursday. The vacation was planned as a complete rest for everyone from being members of a chartered accountant's family at income tax time.

Democratic Bake Sale

The Carmel Women's Democratic Club is having a bake sale, outside the Village Corner, Sixth and Dolores Streets, on Saturday. Starting at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, cakes, cookies, pies, flower corsages, Easter decorations and Easter eggs will be sold, under the direction of Mrs. J. E. McPherson, finance chairman. Assisting Mrs. McPherson will be Daphne Craigie, Joyce Morris, Jennie Hill and Alice Williams.

Silver Tea on Thursday

The Women's Association of the Carmel Presbyterian Church are giving a Silver Tea on April 25 from 3:00-5:00 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harvey Russell, Santa Lucia and San Carlos Streets.

Assisting Mrs. Russell in receiving the guests will be Mrs. Joseph Ewing, wife of the pastor; Mrs. Charles L. DeVault, president of the Women's Association; Mrs. Alton Walker, Mrs. Bert Wright, Mrs. King Benton, and Mrs. Don Allen.

Mrs. G. H. Rothe is chairman in charge of arrangements for the tea to which all members of the Women's Association are invited with their guests.

Six Walkers Now, Plus Oliver

Rebecca Zoanne Walker born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on April 8 makes four children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. George Walker. The other Walker children are Kathleen, three years old; Jeff, two; and Carolyn, one. Then there is Oliver, the six-month-old Saint Bernard puppy who at 85 pounds far outweighs the younger Walkers. He gave his special friendly welcome to little nine-pound, five-ounce Rebecca when she arrived home with her mother.

Rebecca's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. Earl Walker and Mr. Leo L. King, all of Columbus, Ohio. Her father is associated with the law firm of Campbell and McHarry.

Surprise Party for Sally

When Sally Campbell arrived at Cooke's Cove on Friday evening she found that the eighth grade beach party, arranged by Midge Mettler and Joan Willicombe, was in honor of her 14th birthday. Gathered to surprise Sally at the picnic supper were Midge and Joan, Judy Arnott, Doyle Clayton, John Wilkin, Mardi Lloyd, Stephen Gray, Diane Shields, John Sullivan, Janice Way, Bobbie Little, Pam Petersen, Mike Draper, Penny Nielsen, Nicky Molitor, Joy Fehring, Julie Campbell, Jim Zoellin, Bruce Bennett, Cynthia Beattie, Carolee Hansen, Carol Wise and Kathy Henderson.

Chaperoning the party were Midge's grandmother, Mrs. Laura Hoffman; Sally's father, John Campbell; Mrs. A. R. Arnott and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wilkin.

After supper the party moved to Bobbie Little's house for dancing with the group walking up from the beach under an almost full moon, singing gaily, full of end-of-school-for-Easter-vacation and party spirits.

Gretchen in Bermuda

Gretchen Herron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Herron is spending her Easter vacation in Bermuda. She traveled to the island with a party of 20 students from Endicott Junior College in Beverly, Massachusetts where she is a freshman majoring in merchandising. In Bermuda, Gretchen and her friends will take part in the spring vacation activities planned for college students visiting Bermuda from all over the world.

Mrs. Down to Study at Stanford Carmel High School mathematics teacher Mrs. Ellen Jane Down is one of 50 high school teachers of science and mathematics from throughout the United States to be selected to participate in a special institute at Stanford University during the 1957-58 academic year.

Funds for the institute were granted to Stanford by the National Science Foundation. Each teacher selected for the institute will receive full tuition of $750, a $3,000 stipend, allowance of $30 a month for each dependent up to four, $50 for books, and travel costs.

The program is intended, by the National Science Foundation, to keep high school teachers abreast of developments in their fields and to help increase the supply of top quality scientists and engineers.

Luraine Wins Regional

Luraine Dearing, senior at Carmel High School, won a $25 bond for taking first place in the regional finals of the Native Daughters of the Golden West annual high school public speaking contest held in San Jose on April 10. The Development of the State Constitution was the subject of her talk.

Luraine will now continue to the semi-finals of the contest to be held in Oakland on April 27. Finals will be in Santa Barbara on May 20.

Luraine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Payne Dearing. Earlier this year she won the Daughters of the American Revolution citizenship award for seniors and the Bank of America trophy for being an outstanding student of the senior class.

Alice Ferrante Wed

Alice Virginia Ferrante was married on Saturday afternoon to Benjamin George Wilkinson Dew in St. John's Chapel, Del Monte, by the Reverend David St. Leger Hill in a ceremony attended by family members.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Peter Ferrante, wore a pale smoke organza gown. The bodice, made with three-quarter-length sleeves and a portrait neckline edged in lace, extended into a full skirt. Her matching hat had a short veil and her flowers were cymbidium orchids and stephanotis.

Anne Ferrante was her sister's attendant wearing a French blue linen princess style dress, a white organza hat, white accessories, and carrying a spray of yellow roses.

Captain Irvin Lowell Dew of Moffett Field and Los Altos was his son's best man and Jack Balbo of Monterey served as usher.

Mrs. Ferrante attended her daughter's wedding in a beige silk linen dress, with patent leather shoes and bag, and a corsage of lime orchids. Mrs. Dew, mother of the groom, wore creamy-beige orchids, blending with her beige silk linen costume, and matching accessories.

The reception, following the marriage, was held at the Ferrante home in Hatton Fields, where the living room was decorated with bouquets of tulips, iris, gladioli, lilac and stock in rose and white shades. The same flowers in yellow and white were used in the dining room where the bride and groom cut their wedding cake and were toasted in champagne.

Alice attended Carmel schools and Chadwick School for Girls in Southern California before entering Stanford University where she is in her junior year.

She met her husband at Stanford. He is a graduate student preparing to enter McGill University Medical School in Montreal, Canada, next fall. Before serving two years in the Navy he graduated from Dartmouth College in New Hampshire and spent one year at Monterey Peninsula College after graduating from Monterey Union High School in 1949 when his parents were stationed on the peninsula. He was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Dartmouth.

The young couple will live in Palo Alto until the end of the college year.

YOUTHS IN CAR CRASH ESCAPE INJURY

Two Seaside youths, Earl D. Green, 17, and Tom Artellian, 17, escaped with minor injuries in an automobile accident on Highway 1 south of the High School at 8:30 last night.

Green, driver of the car, going south, attempted to pass another car in heavy rain. His wheels spun, losing control of his car, he hit a tree on the east side of the highway, then bounced back 90 feet to the west side of the highway. In the course of the accident Artellian was thrown from the car to the pavement. Both boys were picked up by a passing motorist and taken to the Peninsula Community Hospital where their injuries were found to be minor.

Easter Guests at the Duns

The Reverend and Mrs. Angus Dun Jr. will entertain relatives of Mrs. Dun from Saturday until Tuesday. Coming from St. Helena are Mrs. Dun's mother, Mrs. Homer D. Swihart, and Mrs. Dun's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Everett. The Everett's daughter, Jane, a pupil at Miss Branson's School in Ross, is also coming to Carmel, as well as Jane's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sherwood of Redwood City.

Town House Shakespeare Talk

Tuesday is the birthday of William Shakespeare and the program at Town House on Wednesday afternoon will be an observance of his birthdate. At 3:00 o'clock Mrs. Fred L. Farley will talk about Shakespeare's plant lore. In his plays and sonnets the poet mentioned more than 50 wild and cultivated plants, everywhere revealing an accurate knowledge and a delight in the beauty of flowers. Mrs. Farley will have on display a number of the flowers mentioned in the writings. Afterwards tea will be served.

The watercolor paintings of Colonel Harold H. Capers remain on exhibit until the end of the month.

Here for Easter Week

Dr. and Mrs. James Hopper of Sausalito, with their four children, Jimmie, Steven, Margo and Shawn, are spending Easter week in the Richard Lofton house on Camino Real. Dr. Hopper is associate professor of medicine at the University of California Medical School in San Francisco. Jimmie and Steven were pleased to arrive here on Monday, in time for minus tides so they could go eel fishing off the rocks along the coast. Dr. Hopper prepares the eels according to his own special recipe, and guests find themselves exclaiming over the delicious fish they are served with no idea they are eating eels.

Bob Wiegman Ends Leave

On Monday Bob Wiegman leaves for his new station in Macon, Georgia. He has been in Carmel for the past three weeks with his mother, Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, and his sister, Wendy, with trips to Eureka to visit his brother, Christopher, and Sunnyvale to see another brother, Paul. On his way to Georgia Bob will stop in Phoenix, Arizona, with his sister, Beatrice, and complete his round of family visits after 27 months in Japan and Korea with the Air Force.

Red Makes Dean's List

Richard L. (Red) Williams, son of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams, is among the 350 freshmen at Harvard University named to the Dean's List on the basis of mid-year grades. A student must have a B or better average for the semester at Harvard College to be placed on the list. Red is a last June graduate of Carmel High School and the second Carmel High student to attend Harvard. David Ferguson graduated from Harvard last year.

Masons Confer First Degrees

Carmel Unincorp Starts New Fire District

petition to supervisors; May 6, hearing on petitions before board of supervisors; May 27, election dissolving district; June 3, supervisors appoint three fire commissioners to set up new district (present fire district commissioners, James Pruitt, Edward Neroda and Frank Bray are willing to continue). Between June 15 and July 15 the fire commissioners of the new district will hold two or more public hearings on the preliminary budget and call an election to obtain the consent of the voters to a tax levy with which to finance fire equipment purchase and pay salaries for firemen.

Other business of Carmel Unincorporated meeting included a report from the president, Captain Archer Allen, on the county planning commission's denying the request of Carmel Unincorporated that the Lower Carmel Valley one acre minimum building site formula be applied to the Hudson-Fuller development between Carmel Hills and Rio Vista. Following the recommendations of their technical staff, the planning commission approved minimum sites of 10,000 square feet on the upper, flat terrain; 20,000 square feet on 20 percent grade sites; and one acre on 40 percent grade.

Charles Heller

Dr. Charles Clinton Heller died on Tuesday morning at his home on Santa Rita Street after a long illness. He came to Carmel to live 11 years ago when he retired from the practice of dentistry in Los Angeles.

He was born in Conneaut, Ohio, on July 7, 1872, and graduated from the University of Southern California in 1903.

Dr. Heller was a member of Carmel Lodge 680, F&AM. He received his 50-year Masonic pin five years ago. He was also a member of Carmel Chapter 581, Order of Eastern Star.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Cecelia C. Heller of Carmel; three daughters, Mrs. William S. Kelly and Mrs. Elenore L. Clayton of Los Angeles, and Miss Clio C. Heller of San Jose; and a granddaughter, Mrs. Jeanette Girod of Los Angeles.

Funeral services conducted by the Carmel Masonic Lodge were held this afternoon in the Paul Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in the family plot in the Odd Fellows Cemetery in Los Angeles.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Wilma Cook:

I have had given to me three new copies of a book entitled, Detroit is My Home Town. I would like to give them to some people who lived in Detroit, but to enjoy or understand the book they must have lived there before the 1920s, as the book is written by a newspaper man and dwells with the businessmen of those days and sports.

The books are the size of a regular novel and I would be glad to give them to someone free. Otherwise I will turn them over to the library.

Sincerely,
Jim Cooke

Pine Cone, Carmel-by-the-Sea

Joyous Easter Greetings from Florida to all my friends. Home early May, completing globe encircling tour. Arrived good old U.S.A. April 16. Join my name to liquor license transfer defeat.

Grace Howden

Dear Wilma:

Well, here we are, still in this blessed out-of-the-world Island of Madeira, the hardest place to get away from that we have come across in all our wanderings through Europe.

That is because the season here is ending and all available space on incoming north bound ships is taken for passengers returning to the British Isles.

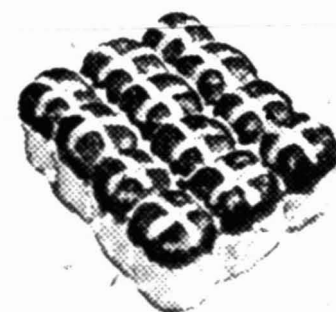

In consequence we failed to secure passage back to England and so took one to Lisbon leaving here March 24th and arriving March 27th, and this has prompted us to go back the long way round (as we had first intended) and revisit Mallorca, where we will, I expect, still find the Lew Sniders and perhaps other wandering Carmelites. And speaking of Carmelites, who do you think is here but Mrs. Grace Howden, accompanied by Mrs. Olsen of Monterey! They sit withing speaking distance of our table in the dining room, came in two days ago enroute home from the Olympic games via Capetown and the Canaries, and we got together for a nice fireside chat. Mrs. Howden asked me if I was writing you, to mention her visit here. They stay here until April 4 for the return of the ship on which we leave, when she will be outward bound for the West Indies and Miami.

We shall visit at Estoril (outside Lisbon) for a week or ten days and then go (by sea, we hope) through the Mediterranean to Palma. All of which reverses what I said in my last card (Feb. 19, I think) and will set us back until the middle of May or later for our return to England. (They say the weather is lovely there now with springtime in full burst and gladness. And we are missing it!) Still it has been very nice here. We have had two months of rest, filled with daily rambles and occasional sightseeing trips. All very enjoyable.

We hope you both are well, and with kind regards to everybody. Remain

Sincerely yours,
Lucie and Peter Mawdsley

"One we have worked on for years and one we believe to be as important as any chapter activity we have ever had in this community."

Sporting Notes —

dres whipped the Bells, 1 to 0, in a thrilled last season but the visitors are favored to turn the tables in Monday's clash.

CARMEL SWIM TEAM DUNKS MONTEREY

Coach Paul Morlang's Carmel High swimming team pulled the big upset of the current season when the fast-improving Padre natators whipped the heavily-favored Monterey tankmen, 42 to 35, in a CCAL dual meet. Better-than-ever performances by all the swimmers on the varsity squad saw the Padres take an early lead and hang on until the final 200-yard relay event. Needing the relay to win the meet, Coach Morlang's speedsters turned in a record-breaking victory which sewed up the meet and established the Carmel tankmen as threats for the 1957 CCAL crown.

Top individual efforts were turned in by Les Laky, a winner in the 100-yard butterfly, and Pete Rice, an upset victor in the 100-yard back-stroke. Rice, a hard-working junior, clipped his teammate, Don Smith, to register his initial victory of the season. Bill Hicks, Fred Bruggeman, Bob Goldwater, Boone Morrison, and Bob Durbrow also contributed valuable points for Carmel's winning cause.

Rio Road Hearing Is Set For May 6

County Board of Supervisors, at their Monday meeting, set the afternoon of May 6, 2:30 o'clock, Salinas Courthouse, for a public hearing on the proposed Rio Road crossover at Highway No. 1.

Owners of the projected shopping center east of Highway No. 1 want the crossing for access to their commercial development. Residents of lower Carmel Valley and the surrounding hills fear that the crossing will involve an unsightly over-pass, or an under-pass which would force building the freeway on a dirt embankment. Residents of Mission Fields do not want the Rio Road crossing because they believe it will bring a heavy flow of shopping center traffic past their homes, with hazard to their children.

The vital importance of Christ Jesus' victory over death will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled Doctrine of Atonement. From John will be read the account of Christ Jesus' crucifixion and resurrection.

Correlative passages from Science and Health include the following (45:16): Glory be to God, and peace to the struggling hearts! Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith, and through the revelation and demonstration of life in God, hath elevated them to possible at-one-ment with the spiritual idea of man and his divine Principle, Love.

The Golden Text is from I John (4:10): Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.

Music On The Peninsula

By MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Amati Quartet, which has played and toured the West for the past three years was heard as the last of this season's series at Monterey College. Its four women performers proved their fine musicianship for ensemble in a performance of charm and artistic excellence throughout, listened to by a considerable audience comfortably seated in a circle, with the players centralized. Jeanette

Violin and Mary Laporte, first and second violins; Maxine Johnson, viola, and Marie Manahan, 'cello, had realized what it takes in practice to produce a perfect ensemble, for no haphazard getting together can ever accomplish enough in such chamber compositions as they gave. The Mozart D maj. K 575, the Beethoven op 59 No. 3, and a modern quartet by the contemporary Hungarian Laszlo Laitha, now living behind the Iron curtain. Because of many compositions written and published while he was in Paris, Laitha is considered a representative of French music.

Hungarian folk character, however, emerges through the quartet's form and its Lent movement is particularly fine, though the whole is intriguing. The four movements of the Mozart were sensitively phrased, and the Beethoven brought out the sonorous tonal power of the group in which Marie Manahan had moments of predominance. She is remembered as the outstanding cellist in the Bach Festivals, but unfortunately cannot be here this summer, because of her forthcoming marriage, she told me.

The College Series this year has been a notable one in contributing good music to the Peninsula, including the recent recital by baritone Gert Muser whose dramatic singing will be heard again in the Opera Workshop presentations next month.

The Red Diamond Chorus from Fort Ord sang a comprehensive program Sunday evening at the USO. This strong group, conducted by Kenneth Wilson, is to be in the coming nation-wide contest of Army choruses, and judging from the 15 selected voices, should stand a good chance of winning. Since no printed program was furnished I do not have names at hand. A quartet in an opera aria was amusing comic parody, as also the round, Mother Hubbard Went to the Cupboard, while the serious solos and chorus showed a good sense of tonal variety and articulation both with and without piano accompaniment. Mr. Wilson's conducting was authoritative.

Babs Richardson To Give Benefit At Circle Theatre

devoted to the Lightboard Fund.

Babs Richardson has made an enviable name for herself in Peninsula Theatre, in performances such as Silver Whistle, Payment Deferred, Treasure Hunt, Fresh Fields, and, most recently, Strange Bedfellows. Before coming to Carmel three years ago she had played in stock across the continent and written, acted and directed in radio and television production. In Canada she won the Best Canadian Actress award of the Canadian Drama Festival, for her performance of Birdie in The Little Foxes, and played featured roles in Vancouver's Theatre Under The Stars.

Her program for the benefit show includes Eugene O'Neill's one act play, Before Breakfast, character sketches of people you may know, and scenes from well-known plays. Babs Richardson's versatile talents need no write up for patrons of the Golden Bough.

If you have wondered what your favorite actors and actresses are like as individuals, these benefit performances are your opportunity to meet and talk to them informally. Many of the stars of the Golden Bough Players will be in attendance, to greet you, to usher you to your seat, and after the show to serve you coffee and cookies on the stage. They look forward to meeting you, for whom they play.

J. C. District Before Board On Tuesday

Junior College and taking Pacific Grove and Carmel students on a tuition basis, can easily swamp Carmel's vote. Thus the Carmel Unified School District taxpayers have no say in a commitment that will increase their tax rate eight cents to start over the tax rate demanded by increase in tuition fees, assuming that the most stringent of the bills before the legislature passes (see editorial column, page 1.)

Superintendent Stuart Mitchell will have an answer, "nobody can say" to the question raised by Francis Whitaker at the special meeting Tuesday night: "In a peninsula-wide junior college, what representation would Carmel have on the college district board?" Phoning back from Sacramento, where he went for further information yesterday, Mr. Mitchell reports that under the present law, after a junior college is voted into existence, the county supervisors appoint an interim board to serve from February to July; board election is held in May and the new board members take office July 1.

The trustee area is designated by the county committee in school district organization and this same committee decides whether there

Services At The Churches

Easter season church services start tonight at Carmel Mission with Solemn High Mass sung at 5:00 o'clock by the Children's Choir. Good Friday observances will be held in the Mission, at All Saints' Episcopal Church and the Church of the Wayfarer.

Easter Sunday services will include special music at All Saints', the Church of the Wayfarer, and the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

At all three churches special care for children will be provided to enable parents to join in Easter worship.

Carmel Mission

Easter observances at Carmel Mission start tonight at 5:00 o'clock with a Solemn High Mass followed by procession of the Blessed Sacrament to the Altar of Repose, adoration until midnight.

Tomorrow, Good Friday services begin in the morning with Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament from 8:00 to 1:00 o'clock. The new ritual will start at 1:30 in the afternoon with the Chanting of the Passion, Holy Communion for the people, Adoration of the Cross, Stations and the taking down from the Cross. There are no devotions Friday evening.

There will be no Morning Mass or Holy Communion on Holy Saturday. At 10:30 o'clock in the evening observances will be the Blessing of the Paschal Candle and Baptismal Water, Chanting of the Lumen Christi, the Exalted, renewal of Baptismal Vows. A Solemn High Mass will be sung at midnight by the Children's Choir.

On Easter Sunday Low Masses will be celebrated at 7:00, 8:00, 9:30, 11:00, and 12:15 o'clock.

Church of the Wayfarer

The Maundy Thursday Communion Service will be held at the Church of the Wayfarer at 8:00 o'clock tonight, conducted by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, assisted by the Reverend Charles H. Burrill. Ruth Kightly, soprano soloist, will sing The Hym of His Garment by Greenfield and Paxton's He Was Alone. Pipe organ selections by shall be a five or seven-man board. These decisions regarding how much representation, if any, Carmel will have on a peninsula-wide junior college board are settled by the county redistricting committee after the election establishing a junior college district.

An amendment to the bill that would increase per-tuition-pupil levy for capital outlay to $350 has been proposed by Senator Fred Farr, who called the Pine Cone last Sunday to say he is not sponsor of the increase in capital outlay bill; it is the creation of the Junior College Association, he said. The amendment would provide that capital outlay levy paid for tuition students could be credited toward the purchase of share in junior college land and equipment should an outside school district wish to join a junior college district later. This amendment will have a hearing Tuesday afternoon in Sacramento, a few hours before the school board meeting.

With so many uncertainties, and the taxpayers deprived of a voice in so vital a decision, the school board would do well to postpone action until it is known what legislation will pass in Sacramento, until the public can be fully informed as to the serious tax burden that will be involved in participating in a junior college district, and be given an opportunity to evaluate the advantages in view of the cost. The board should certainly hold public hearings to give the Carmel taxpayers an opportunity to make known their will because they will have no influence on the election. No district should be committed to such tax costs on a simple resolution by a five-member board.

Connell K. Carruth will include Saint-Saens' Contemplation, The Last Supper by Weinberger, and Dupre's Our Father in Heaven.

The Good Friday Service will be held from 2:00 until 3:00 p.m. with special music by the Chapel Singers under the direction of John W. Farr. They will sing the 12th century hymn At the Cross Her Station Keeping, set to a 17th century French melody, and Peter Lutkin's Into the Woods My Master Went. Mrs. Carruth's organ selections will include the Passion Chorale by Reger and Jesus Crucifixus by Edmundson. Dr. Gray will conduct the service.

There will be three identical Easter Services at the Church of the Wayfarer—at 9:30, 11:00, and 12:30 o'clock. John W. Farr will direct the Chapel Singers in three selections: Fanfare by Shaw, Worthy Is the Lamb from the Messiah by Handel, and Leisring's O Sons and Daughters. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray will conduct the services, preaching on the theme, A Day to Remember.

Connell K. Carruth's selections on the Memorial Pipe Organ will include Bach's Today Triumphs the Son of God, Resurrection by Nies-Berger, Dupre's Holy Jesus Is Risen from the Dead, and Come, See the Place Where Jesus Lay by Edmundson.

At 11:00 o'clock in Fellowship Hall a one-act play The Boy Who Discovered Easter will be presented by a cast under the direction of Florence B. Venn. Appearing in the play will be Clifford Anderson, Stanton Gray, Mrs. Edward Hicks, and Mrs. Walter Burde. Assisting in the production are Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tyerman, Mr. Venn, Ralph Thompson, W. H. Scholefield, Mrs. Anderson and Mary Greenwood.

The Church School will be in regular session at 9:15 and 10:45 o'clock, with infant care provided during all three of the church services.

Carmel Presbyterian Church

There will be two identical Easter Services at the Carmel Presbyterian Church, Ocean and Junipero Streets, with the minister, the Rev. Dr. Joseph M. Ewing, preaching on the theme At the End of the Road.

At both 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock services next Sunday, the organist, Thomas Hazelton will play the following musical selections: Prelude: Toccata and Fugue in D Minor by Johann Sebastian Bach; offertory: Prayer by Cesar Franck; postlude: Toccata (from Partida on Christ Est Ernstaden) by Richard Purvis.

The soloist, Pamela McFayden, will sing From These Thy Children, the tune Sine Nomini, as well as O Sons and Daughters, Let Us Sing!, a French melody.

There will be a nursery for infants and small children at both services.

All Saints' Episcopal Church

The Good Friday traditional Three Hours Service at All Saints' Episcopal Church begins at 12:00 o'clock noon. Preaching will be shared equally by the rector, the Reverend Angus Dun Jr., and the Reverend H.M.M. Nicholas. Music will be by the Junior Choir under the direction of Miss Ann Thoeni, and the Adult Choir directed by Robert M. Forbes, organist and choir director at All Saints' Church. The altar will be bare for the sombre Good Friday observance.

On Saturday afternoon from 3:00 to 4:00 o'clock the Sacrament of Holy Baptism will take place, as is customary on Easter Even in the Episcopal Church.

Easter Day services start with Holy Communion at 7:00 o'clock in the morning. The Junior Choir will sing the anthem Awake Up, My Glory, by Barnaby at the 9:00 o'clock Holy Communion Service.

At the 11:00 o'clock Morning Prayer and Sermon Service the preludial music, In Dulci Jubilo, will be played on the organ by Robert M. Forbes assisted by a trio consisting of Brian Casiday, first trumpet; Terry McCormack, second trumpet; and John Stiles, trombone.

During the service the Easter canticle, Christ Our Passover Is Sacrificed For Us, will be recited.

At the 12:15 o'clock Holy Communion Service the rector will be assisted by Chaplain Cyril F. Coverley of Fort Ord.

The Children's Mite Box Service will be at 4:00 o'clock on Sunday afternoon when the Boys'

Choir will sing and the children will offer their Lenten mite boxes for the missionary work of the Episcopal Church.
